A.C.C. International Inc. Announces New Ownership

Same renowned Eco-Power Brush system, but Whole New Energy and New Direction for the Company

Beamsville, ON, March 15, 2010

A.C.C. International Inc., the North American distributor of the renowned Eco-Power Brush, North America's most widely-used single brush wash bay cleaning solution, is pleased to announce a change in ownership.

To go along with the change in ownership, the company will be redesigning their website, www.accint.ca, and now offers complete wash bay solutions. The proven solutions span the renowned Eco-Power Brush system, Waste Water Treatment systems, Water Reclamation systems, Shampoo/Soap systems and Fleet Cleaning analysis and consulting.

“My goal when I purchased this business was to improve the customer experience by providing a suite of wash bay solutions that help businesses save money and be environmentally friendly,” said Jack Jackson, owner of A.C.C. International. “We provide a full suite of solutions that are proven to save money through increased efficiency, even for the smaller fleet owner.”

The Eco-Power Brush system washes trucks, motor coaches, buses and other fleet vehicles, such as ambulances, for a fraction of the cost of washing manually. The system uses 90% less water than traditional hand wash systems, washes in under 5 minutes per vehicle and virtually pays for itself within months.

The company has been in business and making sales since 1991, but Jack Jackson bought the company in October 2009. The improved product line includes the Eco-Power Brush System, a Waste Water Treatment System, a Water Reclamation System, Shampoo Systems as well as a complete line of parts and service.

The Waste Water Treatment and Water Reclamation Systems help businesses reclaim, treat, and re-use up to 90% of their water. This helps businesses save on costly water consumption. The other benefit is businesses can now rest knowing their waste water is being captured, treated and re-used without harming the environment.

The products we carry are proven solutions. To learn more about who are customers are and how we can help you, contact Jack Jackson on 1.800.265.7405 or at JJackson@accint.ca.
